North Siders Up In Arms Against Neighbors

HOME PURCHASE DRAWS STERN OBJECTIONS

MOVING INTO NEWLY PURCHASED MODERN STUCCO DWELLING BY INDIANAPOLIS PHYSICIAN PRECIPITATES STORM IN WELL-TO-DO NEIGHBORHOOD.

A concerted program of retaliation was enacted at a largely attended meeting of the Northside League Sunday when it was found that Dr. Clarence A. Lucas, Indianapolis physician had moved into a newly purchased modern stucco home at 3934 Central Avenue. The home, for which Dr. Lucas is said to have paid $8,000 is located in the heart of what is known as Indianapolis' well-to-do district.

Out of the protest meeting has emerged, what has since become known as the Northside Protective Association within the Northside League avowedly for the specific purpose of keeping the so-called white district free of Negro residents. What is more, it was unanimously decided at the meeting that should Dr. Lucas and the latter's family persist in living in their recently purchased home, the league would see to it that every Negro employed in domestic service within the district is discharged forthwith.

This pronouncement has produced a veritable furore among the large number of employes, all of whom are preparing to have something to say personally to the physician about what they think should be done to save their jobs, it is said.

Dr. and Mrs. Lucas and their two children moved into the $8,000 dwelling last Saturday and precipitated a storm of protest that burst forth like a thunderbolt from a clear sky.

In the meantime efforts on the part of a number of incensed property owners and residents of the neighborhood to maneuver Dr. Lucas into disposing of his newly acquired property, proceed with unabated vigor.

An attempt by an Indianapolis Recorder reporter to obtain an interview with Dr. Lucas failed when the physician said, "I have no statement to make." Other efforts to get in touch with Dr. Lucas over telephone were equally unsuccessful.

Dr. C. H. Winders, well known Indianapolis physician, said:

DEAD BODY SENT ON LONG TRIP TO SAVE EXPENSE

SEVEN CHILDREN OF DECEASED WOMAN IN DISTANT CITY WANTED TO SEE HER FACE

MACON, Ga., Dec. 12. (CNS)—A round-trip ticket to Detroit for a corpse is one of Macon's ideas of present day economy.

The corpse was a woman with seven children in Detroit, all of whom naturally wanted to see the body.

She died in Macon and they thought she could be buried in Macon. Yet the children should see the body—and there were seven of them. Her brother-in-law here went to the ticket office of the Macon terminal and asked for a round-trip ticket for a corpse to Detroit.

"Why a round trip?" they asked him, amazedly.

"Well," he explained, "it costs less than having all them children come down here."

CAMERON CASE FINALLY GIVEN VENUE CHANGE

MARION, Ind., Dec. 12.—The case of James H. Cameron, 16-year-old Marion youth, was granted a change of venue from the Grant county circuit court in this city to Anderson, the county seat of Madison county, where Cameron will be arraigned Dec. 22.

Cameron was allegedly implicated with Shipp and Smith, two other youths in the shooting of a white boy and assaulting the latter's girl companion.

Shipp and Smith were lynched on the Grant county court house square here the night of August 7. Attorneys R. L. Bailey and R. L. Brockenbush are representing young Cameron in the case.

MARION LYNCHING TRIAL SET. MARION, Ind., Dec. 12.—Following conference of Attorney General James M. Ogden and two deputies and Prosecutor Harley Hardin here it was announced that trial dates for four men alleged to have participated in the lynching of Smith and Shipp last August will be on December 29, 30 and 31.

It is not known which of the four defendants will be tried first. The Phillip Boyd, Chester Pease, Everett Clarke and Robert Beshire are the men awaiting trial.

C.M.E. ANNUAL MEET HELD IN GEORGIA CITY

BISHOP CALLS UPON GENERATION TO ELIMINATE BOOT-LEGGING-SLACK LIVING

GRiffin, Ga., Dec. 12. (CNS)—The 28th session of the Central Georgia conference of the C. M. E. Church was held last week with Bishop J. A. Hamlett of Kansas City, Kans., presiding.

For the first time in 32 years the C. M. E. Church in Georgia had a bishop to preside over it other than a native Georgian. Bishop Holsey, Williams and Carter, all Georgians, have presided in the State since 1898.

What was regarded as the most unusual scene that ever took place in a C. M. E. Church Conference followed the ringing appeal made by Bishop Williams that the present generation eliminate bootlegging, slack living and general immoral tendencies.

The entire conference of more than 200 ministers and delegates was moved when Dr. Stallworth burst into one of the highest emotional "spirituals." "Amens," "Hallelujahs" rang while the entire conference shouted.

Charged $176 For Fly To Hopkinsville

When Philip Lucas, 364 W. 25th tried to reach the bedside of his deceased father in Hopkinsville, Ky., last Sunday morning by way of the airplane, he found upon applying at Mars Hill Airport for accommodation that representatives of the company were rather interested in knowing whether or not he was colored. That was surprise number one. Surprise number two came shortly after when Lucas, after admitting he was colored, was told by agents at the airport that the trip to Hopkinsville (a little over three-hundred miles) would cost him exactly $176.

Of course Mr. Lucas immediately abandoned the airplane route idea for one by automobile only to reach the Kentucky city too late for his father's funeral.

Organizer Of Natl. Negro B. B. League

NATIVE OF LONE STAR STATE AND SON OF GOSPEL PREACHER SUCCEEDS TO LONG ILLNESS IN ILLINOIS HOME.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Dec. 10th.—Andrew "Rube" Foster, one of the most interesting figures in baseball history, died here today at the age of 51 years, after a lingering illness of two years.

Foster probably attained great fame, and did more to promote interest in Negro baseball than any other single character.

The mighty Rube first saw the light of day at Calvert, Texas, in 1879, the son of a minister. Even at an early age he exhibited an extraordinary interest in sports and particularly baseball. After gaining much experience in training in the territory adjacent to his birth place, Foster sought his fortunes "up North."

A mighty right arm vested with superb control won him a place instantly on the old Chicago team known as the Lehigh Giants. Later he accepted the position with the Cuban Stars and the Philadelphia Giants.

Returning to Chicago, his activities were used in the organization of the Negro National League, 1920. He became its first president. The Chicago team, the American Giants, he had organized ten years before.

Teams representing the larger cities of the middle and northwest were included. The memory of the keen rivalry that existed between the "Rube" and the late C. I. Taylor, who headed the Indianapolis A. B. C.'s will live long in the minds of those who witnessed their intense struggles.

Relinquishes Position. Two years ago, after relinquishing his position as head of the Negro League and the Chicago team. From its inception, he had been its stony pet. Only an adventurer's spirit, rare executive ability and a genius for things pertaining to baseball kept him at the helm. Since his dissociation with the league, its influence and importance as a Major attraction has waned.

The "king of baseball" was also a business man. For many years he successfully operated a large garage in Chicago.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago Sunday. Foster is survived by a wife and two children.

WOUNDED HUSBAND UNABLE TO MAKE STATEMENT

GARY, Ind., Dec. 12.—As a result of a bullet wound inflicted by his wife Anna, Friday morning of last week, Sam Mayfield, 41 years old, is in St. Catherine's hospital.

According to Mrs. Mayfield, she was sitting on the bed in her home playing with a revolver when her husband entered the room. She said while Mayfield stood in the doorway talking to her, the revolver was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck Mayfield in the stomach seriously wounding him. When taken to the hospital, Mayfield was unconscious. Mrs. Mayfield, who was arrested immediately after the accidental shooting, is being held in the Indiana Harbor police station, while police continue their investigation.

Myles confessed that he shot his father with a shotgun and then stabbed him three times at their home in the Hillboro section of the city. WANTS CHEAP LABOR KEPT OUT OF THE STATE

VIRGINIA CITIZENS OBJECT TO IMPORTATION OF WORKERS AND OUT-OF-TOWN CONTRACTORS.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 12. (CNS)—State Commissioner of Labor John Hopkins Hall, protested vigorously Thursday against the importation of cheap labor and out-of-town contractors coming into this city on large federal and state projects.

In his communication to the state members of Congress from the state the commissioner declared that after underbidding Virginia builders, the contractors on these projects are employing labor, some of them Negro mechanics, at from 30 to 70 per cent less than the wage scale of Virginia contractors. He declared that such practices are directly contrary to the objectives laid down by the Federal authorities in their plans to aid unemployment.

A similar fight has been waging in Washington where a concern from North Carolina has been receiving many of the big government projects over local bidders because of using cheap Negro labor imported from the South.

Murder Case Against Officer Dismissed

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 12.—John Alsop, white, former Ft. Worth policeman was found not guilty of murder Thursday night of last week of killing George Terrell during an attempted robbery of the Polytechnic State Bank of Fort Worth, April 10th.

The jury deliberated three hours. The white man was given a 20-year sentence recently for killing Tate, but has appealed the case.

WHITE AUTHOR PROMISES BIG REVELATIONS

NEW BOOK IS "THE NEGRO A NATIONAL ASSET OR LIABILITY" TO BE A SENSATION NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (ANP)—

Announced for early publication is a new book which promises to be a sensation. The title of the work is "Negro—A National Asset or Liability?" The author is Dr. John Louis Hill, internationally famous white writer, with one other book about Negro to his credit, "When Black Meets White."

Some of the arresting subjects discussed in Dr. Hill's new book are:

1.—That the original ancestors of the people known as Negroes were not black.

2.—That although more than one-tenth of the population of the United States is made up of "Negroes," more than one-half of this one-tenth is more white than black.

3.—That everything distinctive in "American" in music, art, literature, and homely philosophy had its origin directly or indirectly with the Negro.

4.—That Negroes in this country know much more about white people than white folk know about Negroes.

5.—That the Negro is essential to the successful economic life of this nation in the immediate future.

6.—That all Negroes will turn white if they continue to abide in this climate and civilization.

7.—That Negro voters may have it absolutely within their power to determine the next occupant of the White House.

Dr. Hill will also discuss "Inter-racial Rambling," the Negro's potentiality for good and evil, and his ultimate place in the station.

ONLY FEW MORE DAYS IN WHICH TO CONTRIBUTE

City-State Wide Drive Going Over The Top—Hundreds Of Responses Coming In Daily.

The Indianapolis Recorder "Good Fellows" Christmas Cheer and program is daily bringing to light numerous cases of extreme destitution among the poor of the city.

A veritable avalanche of letters continue to pour into the headquarters of the fund, at 518 Indiana Avenue.

Many In Dire Need. The majority of the unfortunate are in dire need of food and clothing. Numbers of letters bear the information that the writers have not had food or fuel for days.

Hundreds of children of tender school age are pleading for dolls, of every description from Santa Claus.

Pathetic Appeals. Much sickness is being complained of in the letters, in such pitiful tones, they are capable of loosening up the purse of the "strongest old miser."

Make Personal Calls. Children without sufficient clothing are going so far as to personally call on the management of The Indianapolis Recorder Christmas Cheer Fund to make their wants known to the "Goodfellows."

Letters coming into the office from old people without any definite means of support and out of work are among the most numerous and truly pathetic of the help wanted masses by the "Goodfellows" organization.

Intense Suffering. That there is in indefinitely more suffering of the most sort prevailing among the unfortunate of the city, than in any previous year, is substantiated by the increasing number of appeals for aid.

Management Makes Appeal. Public spirited citizens are being urged to contribute to the limit, to the end that relief can be given to those most deserving. In re-letting make all checks payable to The Indianapolis Recorder Christmas Cheer Fund. Clothing and fuel may be donated, by calling the office of the Indianapolis Recorder.

Home Purchase Draws Objections

Grinslade, together with a group of real estate dealers held a conference with the physician Monday noon at his office at 501 North West street. J. J. Argus, Thomas Flarson, Virgil Jones, Sam Mandell and John Lyngsight, all whites, also attended the conference, said Dr. Lucas has been approached by a number of prominent colored citizens on the Central Ave. property purchase subject of which the physician is the storm center.

It is said that Dr. Lucas, following the meeting with the real estate men and other citizens expressed himself, to the effect that he was willing to talk business. The physician declined, however, to consider any proposition until he had further considered the subject.

The home of which all eyes are being focussed was formerly owned by Dr. C. J. Order, a white physician who resided in the house. It was revealed at Dr. Order's office that the physician was out of the city indefinitely.

Claims have been made that Dr. Order sold the home to 'spite' the neighborhood. No reason however could be learned in an interview with neighbors. Several residents declared having any knowledge of a league and its contemplated plans. Leaders in the movement to force the moving of Dr. Lucas are surrounded by secrecy.

No Slavery In Abyssinia

GENEVA, Dec. 12. (CNS)—Abyssinia is among the more recent countries to abolish slavery, the League of Nations reports.

In addition the number of nations that have ratified the League's International Convention for the Progressive Abolition of Slavery increased from twenty-nine to thirty-four.

The most difficult aspect of the problem, according to Leaguers, lies in the Mahometan countries where slavery is recognized by their religion.

ROLAND HAYES, NOTED SINGER REAPPEARS AT SYMPHONY HALL

FAMOUS TENOR GREETS TREMENDOUS AND APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE WITH MANY A RARE NUMBER OF HIS PROGRAM—DRAWS HIGH PRAISE FROM CRITIC IN COLUMNS OF BIG DAILY.

By H. T. P. In The Boston Evening Transcript

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 12.—Before the usual audience, which filled nearly every chair; assembled the program in his usual groups; singing for the most part, as he usually sings, Roland Hayes reappeared yesterday afternoon at Symphony Hall. The number, interest and warmth of his hearers testified to the continuing regard in which his first public holds him. The songs which the groups were clear reminder of his studious habit, of his just ambition to recall to the concert-room pieces long neglected or alto-overlooked. He chose his old airs from Caldara and Ariosti—Italians of the turn from the seventeenth into the eighteenth century. Of four German lieder, only one—Schumann's "Auftrag"—was familiar. He rediscovered the "Danse Macabre," written by Saint-Saens for tenor voice a year before he composed the like-named symphonic poem. "Beau soir" is not hackneyed Debussy; while the succeeding numbers from the Russian Medtner and the English Holst were as unfamiliar. The listener must have long memory to keep track of all the Negro Spirituals; but Mr. Hayes's four were not of those that repetition or mistaken arrangement has cheapened. Throughout he sang better the music closest to his sympathies and voice; but his excursions outside it were more fortunate than they have sometimes proved. Throughout again, he did the works of a singer who is not content to be a public favorite unless he can also serve the arts of song.

In two songs from Schubert—"Die Schusch" and "Dass sie hier Gewesen," in Schumann's "Alte Laute," in Debussy's "Beau soir," in Holst's "The Heart World."

Mr. Hayes renewed the qualities most and best distinguishing him. All five are songs of contemplation, threaded with melancholy. Holst's aside, they unfolded a nature-picture more or less dreamily, then contrast with it or suffuse upon it poignant and saddened human emotion. Such moods touch Mr. Hayes's spirit. They and the music that defines and projects them invite the finer inflections and coloring of the melodic line. "Beau soir" moves in Debussy's twilight—the sunset landscape, the melancholy thought, the regret, faintly ironic, for the ebb of life, after its flow. Mr. Hayes wove the atmosphere phrase; caught the evasive emotion; achieved a Debussy who preferred suggestion to emphasis. The contemplative Englishman is prone to sentiment. Together Holst and Mr. Hayes avoided that pitfall; joined reticent feeling to chiseled means.

Again with the German lieder. In "Die Sehnsucht," Schubert and the introspective, dreamful spirit, too self-absorbed to see, hear and feel. Both were contained in a composer's long breathed melody, in the responsive flow of the singer's shaded tones. Written as in a single flight, the song sped out of Schubert's imagination into the singer's; out of both to their audience. Schumann's "Alte Laute" is cast a similar mood, but with bolder outline and more conscious effect. It asked and received Mr. Hayes's darker tones. "Dass sie hier Gewesen" is a web of melancholy—stilled tears for beauty and for love. The tenor, spinning his voice at its finest, made them sustained sound. The contrast was the light-rhythmed, light-phased, light-toned "Auftrag." Becomingly, at the end of the group, Mr. Hayes bade Mr. Parham share the

Citizens Urged To Contribute Liberally To Wants of Indianapolis Army of Unemployed

MANY LOCAL INSTITUTIONS START RELIEF WORK AMONG CITY'S UNFORTUNATES—SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH AND GOOD SAMARITAN BAPTIST CHURCH, CITY FIRE HEADQUARTERS AND CHURCH OF THE LIVING GOD START SEASON CHARITY GIVING PROGRAM.

By Staff Correspondent We note that as this appeal for a greater measure of charity giving is being written an encouragingly large number of public spirited institutions such as the Flanner House, churches, social organizations, fraternal orders, sporting clubs and numerous other local bodies are perfecting plans to bring relief as best they can to Indianapolis army of unemployed during winter months.

Hundreds of citizens, through no fault of their own are actually begging for food from door to door. It goes without saying that they will welcome this show of a desire to help them with open arms.

A generous public, deeply impressed with the seriousness of the situation, is already—and very properly—responding with need assistance to calls for help from every section of the city.

The winter season together with its natural legacy of hardships and other kindred circumstances are here.

A condition of cruel privation and pitiful poverty, wide-spread in its range, is becoming more and more evident among the poor of the city. To substantiate the latter statement it should be said that hundreds of families are actually starving. An investigation, recently instituted by the Indianapolis Recorder reveals that many of these people are going without food for days.

Children Need Shoes—Because of the parents' inability to supply them with the highly necessary commodity, a surprisingly large number of small school children are compelled to attend school in their bare feet. The above is only what may be described as a short cut exhibition of the conditions as they are now known to exist in Indianapolis; what the Indianapolis Recorder is trying to do is to bring home to the more fortunate the dire need for a fixed determination to make the sacrifice and stand by the unemployed in a substantial way during the next two or three months. This means much unselfish giving on the part of the people to a cause that demands the prompt and vigorous attention which is being advocated for it. We are aware that there are un happily many citizens who are willing, but unable to contribute very much to the needs of these poor people. But it is that maybe their next door neighbors who are in a position to do so might be urged to co-operate with the movement by helping the needy citizens with gifts of shoes, clothing and particularly food.

All gifts to the cause may be forwarded to The Indianapolis Recorder office for distribution among the honor. Any desired information with reference to the help-for-the-poor movement can be obtained by calling Lincoln 7222.

Lt. Julian Interviewed

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(ANP)—To his everlasting credit, regardless of what else he has done, Hubert Julian, variously styled, lieutenant, colonel, and Harlem's Black Eagle, did his race more good in answering a ship news reporter via the talking pictures on his return from Abyssinia, telling his would-be humorous questioner in reply to "What is the attitude Abyssinia to African golf?" "In the term that you refer to, African golf is unknown in Abyssinia." "What is the state of the morals of the Abyssinia people? Are there many harems in the country?" "There are no harems in Abyssinia and I found that the morals of the country were a great deal higher than in the average civilized country." Score a point in favor of Mr. Julian.

now that vocal artistry is second nature in him. He also considers the mood or the emotion that they spontaneously released. Out of both processes he distills the essence that turns a racial into a universal music. "O le me shine" sings the "ole man" to something very like a dance-tune—and Boston and Moscow sing and dance with him. "I'm troubled in mind" or "You know you're tired" and Berlin no less than Boston feels the weariness of spirit come upon these simple children of God. Long before "The Green Pastures," Mr. Hayes translated Negro pieties into a speech farther-reaching than any stage.

The Spirituals, for which as usual the audience waited eagerly, went as only Mr. Hayes can sing them. In a sense he sophisticates them, since he can hardly do less.

Ham Watson And "Big Boy" Fisher Make Heroic Fight

SAVOY BIG FIVE LOSES TO BUINS

INSPIRED BY BIG-BOY FISHER'S PLAY YOUNGSTERS FOUGHT HEROICALLY TO HOLD WHITE BOYS TO SCORE OF 39 TO 26.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 12. (ANP)—Inspired by the sterling play of "Big Boy" Fisher, a green trio of youngsters, and the veteran, "Ham" Watson, playing their first basketball game of the season, took on the Chicago Bruins, leaders in the American professional league, here Friday night at the Savoy ballroom and fought heroically to hold the white boys to a score of 39 to 26.

In addition to Fisher and Watson, regular of the old Savoy Big Five, which whipped the Bruins two years ago, the new team has on its roster as regulars: Les Johnson, Bill Exum, Al Jackson, and Buster Lofton. Johnson is the team manager. The baskers are Seigel Young, Clarence Motley, and John Harrison.

There was little optimism expressed by the supporters of the Savoy team before the game started, but it became apparent before the ball had been in action two minutes that the new Savoy were out to make a fight of it against their famous opponents. Washington, one of the Savoy "shock" players, sneaked over the first field goal as a sort of signal to the Bruins that a part of the Savoy defense was going to be a spirited offense.

The score throughout the first half alternated and was close, the half ending with the Bruins on the large end of a 21-17 score.

In the second half the greater strength and the professionals took a nine-point lead.

Fisher and Jackson were the high-point men for the Savoy, while Kennedy and Herlihy, the giant Bruin center, led for the Ot. ays.

Gus Moore Goes Down To Defeat

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (CNS)—Gus Moore, who has captured the national senior A. A. U. cross-country championship for two years went down in defeat here Sunday when he ran number ten in a field of 58 at the 33rd annual meet held at Lincoln Park, Jersey City. Overworked because of running in several meets during the past few weeks is contributed for the poor showing of Moore.

Havana Bans "Rhumba," But Harlem Like It

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. (ANP)—The Rhumba dance, a new, wild dance, based on the jungle dances of Africa, now popular in the New York night clubs, has been barred by clubs in Havana, where the club owners declared it too suggestive and violent for presentation in their places. It is all the rage in New York City. Not only is the dance highly suggestive, but the costumes are less than those affected in the "Diga Diga Do" numbers of "Blackbirds."

SHOWMAN PLAY A NEW ROLE IN BIG BUSINESS

OWNER OF "SILAS GREEN FROM NEW ORLEANS" OUT-IT DRAFTS MEMBERS OF PROFESSION INTO NEWLY INAUGURATED REAL ESTATE COMPANY.

By TIM E. OWSELEY
GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 12.—Just a few lines to show our show folks as well as others what a progressive and successful showman can do to help others when a general financial depression hits a nation. I have been in the capacity of producer and stage manager with the Silas Green show for almost two years. This organization gives work to sixty people the year round with not a failing pay day. Chas. Collier, the owner of the show, enacted a new roll in life's business world about which I feel everyone should know.

Here is the story: While the Silas Green show was playing Dublin, Ga., the Laborers' Mutual Realty and Investment company was organized with a capital of $25,000. It was chartered under the State Laws of Georgia, with headquarters in Dublin, Georgia. Chas. Collier is president; Johnson Rooks, active vice-president and H. H. Dudley, secretary-treasurer of the new concern. Dublin is in the country of Lauren with a population of twenty-five thousand colored citizens. Most of the latter have invested their life's earnings in homes and farms. Colored real estate in this section has a low rating among white bankers. And many colored people who need financial help to carry them over the present day depression, found themselves unable to secure such amounts on their property. Therefore, they have lost and are losing their homes and farms. Mr. Collier's seeing the actual conditions in this section decided that no better investment could be instituted to bring timely help to those in need than to make loans at a low rate of interest. So he got busy and the above organization was formed. And now in operation, this will mean a rehabilitation of many homes. This one progressive and successful showman has shown another side of life by aiding those in need. In the country of Lauren and the city of Dublin, since the organization of the Laborers' Mutual Realty and Investment company, opened its doors, the people of this section must feel that the coming of the Silas Green show was a God send.

ACTORS WERE PAID $12,000 IN OCTOBER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 12.—(ANP)—Statisticians on Negro economics should not overlook the fact that $12,000 divided among the comparatively small group of colored citizens here means no little assistance toward alleviating the present crisis of unemployment and narrowed industrial conditions. This sum was paid to colored actors, extras, and choristers during last month, which proved not only one of the best months of the summer and autumn in film productions that used Negroes, but also a God-send with the holidays approaching, and no other income in sight to many.

There were 1,152 colored people employed during this month, making 6,000 who have been employed in motion pictures during the year of 1930. At that $10,000 more was lost by failure of M. G. M. studio to make a big barbecue picnic scene and a stupendous cabaret sequence in "The Southerners," just finished.

Stepin-Fetchit alone who was cast in one of the best parts of his career, with Lawrence Tibbet, is said to have lost $2,100 in salary when the studio ended his part in the picture much earlier than intended and used a well-known extra named Ray, and Slick Garrison as doubles for Step's "long shots." Considerable trouble that occurred when "Step" and Director Harry Pollard disagreed on whether the word "fugality" should be used or not in the dialect conversation the colored star had to make with Mildred Washington was said to be the cause of the curtailment. Mr. Woods himself, mogul of the Motion Picture Producers Association, took a hand in attempting to iron out this difficulty as did some of the highest officials of Metro Goldwyn Mayer Studio. Step was said to be getting $450 to $1,500 a week and Ernest Wilson $25 a day as attendant or valet to him. The trouble occurred on Wednesday, October 29th.

HORNETS CARVED NAME DEEPLY INTO HALL OF FOOTBALL FAME

CYCLE OF GRID ACTIVITIES IN PAST FEW YEARS TAKE ON CHANGING TREND—INDIVIDUAL STARS SUBMERGED FOR TEAM PLAY.

By J. B. Sims
Montgomery Ala., Dec. 7th.—The swan song is already upon us. The moving finger writes and time has announced the termination of the grid season at the Alabama State Teachers College down in the heart of Dixie, where despite some bad breaks the Hornet football machine carved its name quite deeply into the hall of football fame with unusual color and glamour.

The Teachers started off their season with the best prospects ever assembled at an opening practice session, but injuries and other bad breaks played their rather heavy roles in not allowing the future professors to show their potential power.

The coaching staff for the 1930 season was under the direction of Gaston Lewis, who is doing his fifth year as a Hornet mentor. He was assisted by H. L. Johnson, one time backfield ace of Sam Taylor at Clark. The Baby Hornets were again under the leadership of G. Hubert Lockhart, while C. Johnson Dunn saw his fifth year in service as director of athletics.

The cycle of grid activities in the past few years has taken a changing trend in that individual stars have been submerged for the sake of team play. Such was the case with the Hornets, but to those whose pleasure or what not it is to select All-American players, the Alabama State Teachers offer several men, who because of their dynamic action and unusual play have been lavishly acclaimed by sports writers and rival coaches.

For the past ten years the Hornets have never failed to win half or more than half of their contests in a season's play. They continued that record this year despite some reverses and compiled a record of 6 wins out of 11 tries. The first contest was with the 24th Infantry at Ft. Benning, then Florida A. and M. at Tallahassee. Morris Brown was taken on in Atlanta while Alabama came next to the Teachers camping grounds in a night game in Montgomery's Crumpton Bowl. The Teachers next journeyed out to Oklahoma to battle Zip Gayle's Langston University wonder team and came back to Augusta to take on Paine. From there to Bham for Wilberforce, after which came Clark, Miles and the great classic with Tuskegee. Morehouse was met on Turkey Day on the Teachers Campus. The Hornet files carry this record for the season:

Ala. State	Op.
24th Infantry	39
Florida A. and M.	13
Morris Brown	6
Alabama A. and M.	46
Langston	28
Paine	40
Wilberforce	26
Clark	13
Miles	19
Tuskegee	6

AT THE WALKER

Three excellent productions have been booked for the Walker for this coming week.

Sunday only December 14th "Playboy of Paris" will be shown. "It's a Great Life if you Don't Weaken," sings merry Maurice Chevalier. As "Playboy of Paris" he enjoys a feminine heart attack. Three lovely ladies claim him for their own and all at once. A ticklish situation that will keep you laughing and liting with Maurice for hours.

The well-dressed woman in search of fads will find an interesting costume accessory hint in Gloria Swanson's new United Artist picture "What a Widow" in the form of an attractive jeweled fan presenting a make-up mirror on its reverse side and a lipstick in the handle. The novelty was designed by the producer star to complete an evening ensemble. "What a Widow" directed by Allan Dwan, is the attraction at the Walker Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Dec. 15-16 and 17.

"Brothers" the successful stage play of two seasons ago has been adapted for the movies by Columbia Pictures. Bert Lytell who made the dual famous on the stage, is playing the same parts in the screen production. Other leading roles are played by Dorothy Sebastian and William Richard Tucker, Maurice Black, Frank McCormack, Claire McDowell, Francis McDonald, Rita Carlyle and Howard Hickman. "Brothers" will be shown at the Walker Thursday, Friday and Saturday December 18, 19 and 20.

INDIANA DAYS

Most authentic of all plays of gangster psychology is "The Doorway to Hell," latest Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, which comes to the Indiana theatre Sunday next for a run of 3 days. Both Rowland Brown, who wrote the story and George Rosener, who did the convincing dialogue, are familiar with denizens of the underworld at first hand. Archie Mayo, who directed, shows great cleverness and the cast is superb. Lewis Ayres, of "All Quiet" fame heads the cast which includes Charles Judels, Dorothy Matthews, Leon Janney, Robert Elliott, James Cagney, Kenneth Thompson, Jerry Mandy and Noel Madison. The story is that of a dethroned king of the underworld whose young brother is kidnapped and accidentally killed by gangsters who think the former leader has double-crossed them. A picture you should not miss.

"Broken Hearted Lover," is the hit song of "Bride of the Regiment," a First National and Vitaphone picture showing three days starting Thursday.

"Broken Hearted Lover" is sung by Allan Prior with the same beauty of voice and expression which characterized his delightful performances before thousands of Theatre-goers during the world tour of "The Student Prince," in which he created the original title role.

His work as a singer in "Bride of the Regiment," his first talking picture, has brought to both Prior and "Broken Hearted Lover" the plaudits of the thousand who have seen this musical picture and the acclaim of critics of both motion pictures and music.

Help swell the funds to provide food and clothing for the needy and poor by purchasing tickets for the big benefit show at this theatre on Wednesday December 17. This movement is sponsored by The Indianapolis Recorder Good Fellows club. An attractive bill will include a talking picture featuring the celebrated Duke Ellington.

The Misses Gertrude Gamlin, Girl Reserve secretary and Anna Wolfk, who assists with health activities, will lead games. Several women have volunteered to bring homemade candy as prizes for winners of competitive games. Each girl who has had a health examination will be given a free plunge in the pool, after which refreshments will be served. Only juniors who bring their membership cards will be admitted. The membership department of which Mrs. Beulah Hayes is secretary and Mrs. S. A. Moten, chairman, sponsors this Christmas feature.

LANGSTON UNIVERSITY, THE WONDER TEAM STILL UNBEATEN

LANGSTON, Okla., Dec. 12.—

On Thanksgiving Day, Langston football team had as its guests the Knoxville squad which it proceeded to handle at the tune of 39 to 0. It was a beautiful exhibition of aggressive football before an appreciative crowd. At no time was Langston's goal in danger except in case of a few severe penalties which gave Knoxville the ball inside the 10-yard line. But with three chances, Knoxville could not make the grade.

Langston plays Fisk at Oklahoma City on the 6th, a post season game, and this bids fair to be the most spectacular football event of the season among Negro College football teams. Teams in the far East may claim what they will, but here is a team in the West that has not known defeat in years. This year it has beaten Texas, Alabama, Kansas, and Knoxville, and two other teams have forfeited rather than face the music. This team invaded Atlanta last season and crushed the Morehouse College squad and all Oklahoma expects that Coach Gayles' squad will on Saturday, the 5th, write the usual FINISH to the hopes of the Fisk aggregation.

CITY HOSPITAL.

Investigation shows that conditions at the City Hospital have improved immensely during the last few months. Contrary to previous revelations patients who heretofore received scant, if any attention, at the hospital are now being accorded considerably more of the sort of treatment to which they are entitled.

With these adjustments has come a change of atmosphere in and around the institution that is remarkable for its necessary effect upon a tax-paying public. Officials, interns, nurses, attendants and other employees have undergone a change of attitude toward patients that should make for much progress in the administration of the affairs of the institution. A far greater measure of courtesy toward visiting citizens, is, according to the report everywhere in evidence at the hospital. A circumstance that differs very widely from previous methods as practiced there. The dirty linen, stuffy and ill-kept wards, and carelessly prepared food so insistently complained of not very long ago have all disappeared and replaced by far more acceptable state of things at the City Hospital. As a result, a greater amount of public confidence is being reposed in the administrative system of the institution.

It is to be hoped, now that these necessary changes have been effected that some steps be taken in the matter of inaugurating on the Hospital staff of physicians needed representation for colored citizens. In view of the fact that Catholics, Jews and other elements of the city's population are recognized at the institution in this way, it remains to be seen to what extent Negroes will be recognized in a like manner. There is no denying the fact that among the colored physicians in Indianapolis, there are many that would be a credit to the institution as well as the profession. An opportunity, such as that which is being advocated, if opened to colored physicians, would go a long way toward solving the City Hospital problem satisfactorily to all.

Greater representation for colored citizens on the City Hospital staff of medical practitioners, is an inescapable necessity. No time should be lost in making preparation to provide this service to which our people are entitled.

RESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS

In purchasing a home in the city of Indianapolis, Dr. Clarence A. Lucas, well-known local physician, was entirely within his rights as a bonafide citizen of the United States. To own a home and dwell wherever one chooses is a prerogative guaranteed by the fundamental law of the land.

We understand that efforts on the part of a number of residents of the neighborhood to bring about a repurchase of the property from Dr. Lucas are on foot. The movement started immediately after the physician moved into the newly purchased dwelling. A protest meeting of members of what is known as the Northside League was held for the purpose of deciding on steps to route the Negro neighbor out of the district. Out of the League's confabulation, there came into being a product organization, the specific mission of which is to keep Negro residents out of the so-called white neighborhood.

To strengthen the protest against what is regarded as a trespass on their sacred grounds the members of the League went so far as to issue certain threats that are calculated to produce the desired results. On another page of this issue is published a story of the northside home purchasing episode, which contains the malicious announcement as issued by the League: THAT EVERY COLORED PERSON EMPLOYED IN THE DISTRICT WILL BE DISCHARGED IF DR. LUCAS, AND HIS FAMILY, PERSIST IN LIVING IN THEIR NEWLY PURCHASED RESIDENCE. To put such a drastic reprisal into effect is undoubtedly a privilege of these employers. It is to be hoped, however, it will be found unnecessary to utilize any such measures to satisfactorily adjust the controversy. It all goes to unearthing the debatable question as to whether or not Dr. Lucas, by purchasing a Central Avenue home for his family exercised his constitutional rights in a manner that is capable of serving the best interest of the race. The fact remains, however, that the step, whatever may have been the physician's purpose for taking it, has been productive of objectionable results.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES SAY

REMOVING AN EXCUSE.

The protection of Southern womanhood has long served as an excuse for the crime of mob murder in the South, although but few of the lynchings reported of late years have even alleged rape as the cause. Now, numbers of white women of the south have spoken in several localities in such a way as to remove that time-worn cry as a pretext for mob activities. The important bearing of this expression from the women of the South was expounded by James B. Nevin in the Atlanta Georgian, and reproduced under the head of "What Georgia Editors Have to Say" in such papers as the Macon Telegraph. We print the article in full as indicating a significant change in Southern sentiment on this subject:

A group of intelligent, patriotic and sincere Southern women have organized for the purpose of combating the evil of lynching. They intend to let it be known that criminal outrages and murders perpetrated by mobs in defiance of law and order shall not proceed under any color of authority to excuse themselves as acting upon a theory that the "purity, dignity and honor of Southern womanhood" must be "protected" in any such way. Here, then, this writer thinks, is a movement that may get somewhere and do some good.

Time was when a woman was supposed to accept supinely and obediently any alleged tenet of "chivalry" some of her "men folks" might dish up for her. Happily, woman has emerged from that most humiliating estate and is in the main quite capable of protecting her own purity, dignity and honor in her own way and without the assistance or interference of lawless elements and criminals.

Southern womanhood does not desire or invite "protection" upon the part of mobs bent upon lynchings—even for the "usual crime," so-called. I think the "men folks" of the mobs may be very sure of that; and it is not surprising, therefore, that Southern womanhood should be—somewhat tardily, perhaps—arising to let that fact be known in such wise as not in the least to be doubted.

This is regarded by people who are closer to the scene of action as an encouraging sign, that some of the white people of the South are awakening to the enormity of the crime of lynching and the futility of the pretexts that are advanced for its existence and acceptance as one of the social institutions of the section. Mr. Nevin's comment on the revolt of the Southern womanhood against being made an excuse for mob murder, is as significant in its way as the action of the women themselves.

It is the evolution of sentiments of this kind on the part of thinking Southerners, that will help to do away with such barbarous practices as lynching and mob law.

NEGRO SHOULD JOIN WITH LABOR.

The political unrest as manifested at the recent election on November 4, brings out the fact that the Negroes should unite with some force by which he can enter the political arena with some assurance of obtaining success. There are many reasons for the peculiarities as exemplified in the results of this election. Many place it on the President, others on depression, and still others on unemployment. All of these may enter into the results, but the big factor was labor.

The Negro has a wonderful opportunity in the seventy-second Congress since the two parties are so equally divided. Had St. Louis elected Waltham Moore instead of L. C. Dyer and the twenty-first Congressional District of New York, sent a colored man. It would have given the Negro the possible balance of power in the seventy-second Congress. Should there be deaths, contests or anything to keep one or more of either party away, the Negro's vote would be sought, and he would become quite a factor in the National Government. The election of the speaker of the House may prove the desirability of more Negroes in Congress.

The Negro uniting with labor prevented Judge Parker from being seated on the Supreme Bench; and the Negro uniting with labor in Ohio defeated Senator McCulloch who voted for Judge Parker. Negroes uniting with labor in West Virginia elected a Democrat instead of a Republican Senator. With this as an example, one of the wisest steps the Negro could make would be to align with labor and go after his political rights in every state in the country.

No matter how many financial and power companies exist in the country, on election day, Labor decides who shall be elected; whether they shall be wet or dry. Labor decides that because if the poor laborer wants a glass of beer and cannot get it, he never reasons but votes against those who take it from him or prevent him from obtaining it.

By uniting with labor in political affairs the Negro has his one big chance in the United States, and should, within the next few years, make his vote felt in any number of states. By doing that he can obtain not only Congressmen but Senators as well. If the Negro expects anything he must become a political factor. He can best do that by uniting with Labor.

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

WHEN ONE DOOR CLOSES

When one door closes do not be dismayed or confounded—look about you for another door that is sure to open. Life often leads us through strange dark ways where no light seems to promise, when lo! there is a break in the solid black wall, and a new door, a new way is opened!

CRUISING AROUND

By LEE JAY MARTIN

Way out upon the Hudson,
Stood a mansion sold
After three days of auction,
Stands a mansion cold.

Many lament the fact that the Madam Walker mansion in New York has been sold, but we should look on the other side of the sale, and ask, "How many of us leave anything that CAN be sold? The sale of the furnishings for about one-fifth of their original cost, brought more money than most of us will ever see, much less possess."

Others say Madam Walker should have had a son, which is of no logic, except to preserve the family name. There is a mansion out West in Kansas, the father died leaving sons and daughters, that mansion and a big farm was sold a few months ago, to satisfy a $80,000 mortgage. "Inherent son" anxious to try something new, not knowing what can't be done, often lose their inheritance, trying to make forty cents, equal a dollar.

Then too, we who bemoan the sale of the Walker mansion, as a black mark against the race, might ask ourselves: Did we buy, and are we buying that weekly bar of soap, that monthly can of talcum. One dime a week spent for a bar of soap, something we all need, and should use, by one-fiftieth of our people; would add to the race $2,000 high-class pay envelopes a year.

In these strenuous times we must cultivate the habit of spending our money where it will mean more employment of a high nature, from a standpoint of salaries. Too many of us are making "small change" salaries, and endeavoring to shoulder "yellow back" responsibilities.

The "Good Fellow" "Club of the Indianapolis Recorder's" Second Annual Christmas Cheer Fund is now in full swing. The club is made up from the ranks of big hearted men and women, and like other clubs working along the same line, have forgotten self, and are working wholeheartedly for the benefit of those who chance to be less fortunate than they.

Met Rev. H. L. Herod the other day. Many know that he is the highly efficient superintendent of the Flanner House, an all-year-round charitable institution, also pastor of the Second Christian Church, busy as he is, he has also pledged his support to the "Good Fellows Club." MEN do not stumble over pebbles or stop at the mountain's foot.

Under false pretense, though 22 fault of mine, I became acquainted with Mr. Burden, district manager for the Victory Life Insurance Co., found Mr. Burden easy to talk with and full of energy, energy is to human, what steam is to a locomotive.

Attracted by the large life-time candles that is if candles have lives four-stories tall, I walked into L. S. Ayres and Co., gigantic department store, the immense and marvelous display of goods amazed me, I did know I needed some much, until I began to look around, why most everything I saw I needed; truly a place to get what you need or want. Mr. Harry Pryor, Miss Mitchell, Miss Lula Woods and other splendid people of our group were doing their bit in making your buying at this store a pleasure.

Senator Walsh, wants the national government to adopt a five-day week, without reduction in pay, stating that the government should lead the way, along this line to reduce the unemployment. A five or four-day week with six days pay will accomplish three things: more sales for merchants, manufacturer and farmer, absorb the unemployed and stamp out the Soviet propaganda.

Monroe Trotter, whose tone of voice, caused him to be escorted from the White House several years ago, got together an anti-lynching conference of about a hundred and fifty noted Negroes, they gathered in Washington, undoubtedly at their own expense to present a protest to the President. But it now appears that Mr. Trotter, trotted off to the White House unknown to the conference, and made his little speech in the presence of four or five of this committee. Next time, these folk will be telling Mr. Trotter to trot along all the way alone.

It is very pleasing to note the numerous effort being made by the group to relieve the distress. It shows we are beginning to realize that we are our brother's keepers. But we want our brothers to also realize that we do not mean to keep him, if he can keep himself.

The Ladies Aid of Second Baptist Church under the leadership of Mrs. Chivers is feeding scores of men a day; a hundred and fifty men were fed in one day according to Mrs. Cornelia Parchman. This is a wonderful service being rendered to the needy. I have been informed that a number of other organizations are working along similar lines, which speaks well for us as a group.

However these efforts are being made to help the honest man who has made a sincere effort to find work and have not yet been successful, not for those who have never worked or would not work if they had a job. Such men have a very tactful way of "getting by" a they call it.

Uncle John Smith of Atlanta, Ga. was driving into town, when an officer enquired of him what was in his wagon. He truthfully answered, "Greens, turnips and whiskey." Uncle John is in jail, but he is not charged with lying. He knew as most of us should know that, "two wrongs does not make a right."

That "silly" thing called prejudice has crept up again. The Interstate Public (if you please) Service Company, has refused to let one of our race ride on their cars as he chose to ride, when every one knows that Attorney Henry J. Richardson, is intelligent enough, clean enough, and handsome enough, to ride in anybody's richly old bouncing interurban cars in any manner he chooses.

"It does me proud" as Charlie Brown would say, to read of the action Mr. Richardson has taken not that it happened to be that particular company, but any unfair company. We all should get the habit of suing every "black cat" of segregation that crosses our path.

Some Cleveland scientists took the ashes of the brains of a animal mixed it with other chemicals, put the mixture in a tube, turned on the electricity, something moved, and they called it life. I am well aware of the fact that electricity will make most anything move, however it is an interesting study, how we live and why we die, but I think most of us are now more concerned about, how to keep the live a-living, instead of making a live the dead.

The governor of South Carolina has appointed twelve Negroes on his state wide employment commission. Things happen once in a while that cause us to ponder on which side of the Mason and Dixon Line do we really exist, or where is the famous line now located.

CONDEMNNS MARION LYNCHING

Editor, Indianapolis Recorder:

In my judgment, the mob spirit, as evidenced in Marion the past summer, exerts a demoralizing influence on society much greater than any other crime. It perpetrates the crime, then protects the criminals by defiance to the law and coercion of the enforcement of officials. The essence of anarchy is here in such a crime.

The lynching was a disgrace to all Indiana. That the lynchings have not been punished, that the law has not been vindicated, that justice is yet delayed, is a continuing reproach of increasing import. All the power of the State should be concentrated on that case until the law is fully vindicated. Every agency of the State should be employed to bring the guilty to full atonement for their crime. Our State must not acknowledge that we cannot uphold our own laws and that our guarantee of protection and justice is worthless.

A VOICE WITHOUT A VOICE

By KELLY MILLER

President Hoover's Negro policy, or lack of policy, must be read between the lines and between the facts. He has at no time given formal expression nor has he designed to discuss the matter with any Negro organization or spokesman. The lily white policy which he adopts would indeed permit the Negro to vote for the Republican Party's candidates, but would deny him any voice or say in shaping the policies of the party. He has adopted this policy in order to build up a competing party in the Southern states. In this policy and purpose he is persistent. Three members of his Cabinet come from the South. He appointed Mr. Houston of Tennessee as chairman of the National Republican committee, this placing the management of the Party's affairs in his hands. That this arrangement went awry was no fault of Mr. Hoover's. In furtherance of this aim, Judge Parker of North Carolina was appointed to the Bench of the Supreme court of the United States. Again his plan miscarried, but his purpose persists. The recent acquisition of Mr. Doak to a cabinet portfolio speaks so plainly and loudly that he who may run may hear. The President is not whit abashed at the Republican defeat in the Southern states in the recent congressional election. For were not Republicans defeated everywhere? The causes of this defeat must be sought in sources far removed from his lily white program.

Mr. Hoover, as a politician, plays a hidden hand. He is an engineer and not a sentimentalist. He believes that Republican success must rest upon its constructive economic policy embodied in the protective tariff. He can offer only palliatives to the agricultural states. The persistence of the recalcitrant bloc in the Senate convinces him that there is no hope of holding the great trans-Mississippi states to the basic Republican doctrine. Blocked at the Mississippi river, the Grand Old Party must seek expansion Southward. Tennessee is more reliable republican state than Nebraska. There is more hope for Kentucky than for North Dakota, North Carolina, even, is as likely to eat oats out of the hands of the G. O. P. as Wisconsin or Minnesota. Senator Bruce of Maryland is more apt to uphold Mr. Hoover's hand than Senator Borah of Idaho. Then, too, he must use political strategy to prevent these upper Southern states from combining with the West to the undoing of the traditional Republican doctrine.

noon December 19 at the School house. A "Hard Times," supper will be served at the School house Saturday night December 13 by the Sunday school. With this object in view, the Negro has been side-tracked, both North and South. Mr. Hoover will probably be renominated to succeed himself. His triumph at the polls will depend upon how he finally lines up on the wet and dry question and the speedy or tardy return of prosperity.

The serious question for the Negro to ponder is whether any other prominent Republican or Democrat, for that matter, takes a different view of his place in his political scheme. There will be very few Negro delegates at the next National Republican convention, and probably none at the Democratic convention. The two parties are approaching party on this issue. There will be Negro voters but no Negro vote. Individual Negroes here and there, will be recognized and rewarded, as in case of Hueston, Henderson, Mitchell and Coage, but merely as individual attachments, to the tail of their respective senatorial kites. There will be no recognition of the race as such; no consultation with race leaders, no spokesman and no reference; no mention of the nullification of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. Of course there is to be no disturbance of the Southern revised constitution. The Negro wants a vote and a voice, but the lily white party or parties will grant him a vote only in the North.

Now, if my diagnosis is correct, how does the Negro like the prospect? What is he going to do about it? Several courses of action are open. He may bolt to the opposing party to punish his erst while friends for their apostasy. Many, very many will doubtless do this. He may stay within the party and urge the nomination of a candidate whom he regards as more generously disposed than Mr. Hoover. Few will have the courage to do this. Or he may fall into complacent compliance with Mr. Hoover's lily white policy, if not thus branded. This seems to me to be about the way things are trending.

The Negro political leaders, if there be any, lack the energy, enterprise and initiative to promote original action. They serve as undetachable coefficients to one or the other existing parties. The only one who shows and signs of independence and reliance on race sufficiency is Congressman Oscar DePriest, but his is merely a voice crying in the wilderness. For the most part the leaders will stand idly by, till the next campaign gets under way, and the lily white policies have been formulated, and beg for such pittance of consideration as the rival parties may graciously accord them.

NOBLESVILLE, IND.

Thos. E. O'Neill Church items Bethel A. M. E. Sunday was a big day at the church. Rev. Mrs. Clara Cooke brought the morning message. She preached from St. Luke, 9: 19, "This day has come to this home." Rev. Mrs. Cooke preached a very beautiful sermon. It was full of instruction and carried with it a strong spiritual element. Taking Zacharias as an example, she told the story in a few words and made her listeners readily see the necessity of seeking Jesus. Seek Him though you have to go out of your way to do so. As Zacharias climbed the sycamore tree to place himself above the thundering throngs, so we must elevate ourselves above the sins of the world, if we are to get in the pathway of the Savior. Realizing that the pathway to Jesus is filled with crosses and various other hindrances we must rise above these and place ourselves where Jesus can find us; He will surely say as He did to Zacharias, "Come day, this day I abide at your house." Rev. Mrs. Cooke was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Winburn and the pastor, Rev. S. D. Hardrick. S. S. convened at the usual hour, superintendent, Thomas Roberts in charge. Our S. S. is doing nicely and we urge each member to continue to boost and make our school the very best.

State's Best Publication

The Recorder was founded thirty-four years ago by the late Geo. P. Stewart with the whole aim of helping the things you are most interested in—your home, your church and lodge, your school and your business. It was intended to be your eyes, your voice—to see what you may not see—to speak where you can not speak. Although called to the great beyond the principles for which the late Geo. P. Stewart stood—shall be carried on by the widow, sons and daughters.

The Recorder shall always stand alone as the one newspaper most intimately interested in your welfare—in your church, and in your school. The Recorder champions your every right.

Since The Recorder was founded many other newspapers have been started. At one time five newspapers were published in this city alone. Today The Recorder shines forth as Indiana's leading weekly, the most complete newspaper the State has known.

With these many features The Recorder has offered the gift box to every delinquent subscriber who pays in full during the drive. Act now! The gift box is for a limited time only.

Every Indianapolis delinquent subscriber will this week receive the amazing gift box offer. Out of town list was mailed first. Watch for your Stand By offer.

TO CELEBRATE PASTOR'S FIRST ANNIVERSARY

CORINTHIAN BAPTIST CHURCH
REPUBLICAN CONGREGATION
WELL PLEASED WITH WORK OF NEW LEADER.

The first anniversary of the incumbency of the Rev. W. Martin Harris as pastor of the Corinthian Baptist Church, North and Fulton Sts., will be celebrated with an appropriate program during the week beginning next Sunday.

The consensus of opinion among leading members of the eastside church is that the Rev. Harris, by his remarkable accomplishments in the comparatively short space of time, has proven himself a leader of high constructive ability.

Among the more important work done by the Rev. Harris, during his twelve months' incumbency is the raising of $34,000, a performance that resulted in the repurchase of the church. Records of the congregation also show that the church debt has been reduced to $23,050.00 during the administration of the present Corinthian head.

The anniversary celebration program will be replete with features interesting and educational throughout. Monday night will be men's night. Tuesday night will be taken up by the lady workers of the church. Wednesday night will be missionary night. Thursday night the Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. will stage their phase of the anniversary features with the pulpit and choir closing the week's program Friday night.

Throat and Lung Trouble

Pneumonia is a very common and oftentimes a very serious inflammation of the lungs. There are two varieties of pneumonia. One is called Broncho-Pneumonia, while the other is called Lobar-Pneumonia. Broncho-Pneumonia is a condition where the mucous lining of the small bronchial tubes are inflamed. Because of the swelling of these small tubes they may become closed or partially closed and thus incapable of conveying air to the air sacs of the lungs. If this involvement should become profound it may lead to suffocation. Lobar-Pneumonia is the other form and here we find that one or more of the five great lobes of the lungs are inflamed. This inflammation is very extensive and may lead to consolidation of the lobes affected. Here also suffocation may occur providing the inflammation is sufficiently extensive.

Vital Energy

Just as it is true that the mucous membranes of the throat must receive their proper supply of vital energy through the nerves so it is also true that the bronchial tubes and the air sacs of the lungs must also be supplied. Infringement or pressure on the nerves supplying the lungs and bronchial tubes makes it impossible for them to transmit an adequate supply of vital energy. Thus, the resistance in these organs is lowered and the toxins which accumulate in the body have a profound effect upon them. It is the chiropractor's province to locate and correct the cause of such weakened resistance and also to locate and correct the cause of improper bodily elimination. When he has done this health is the natural consequence.

Cause is Within

Many people have held the erroneous opinion that sore throat and inflammation of the lungs are conditions which invade the body from the exterior. Still others believe that these conditions are transmitted from one person to another. A few years ago, Dr. McCormack, then president of the American Medical Association, lectured on the subject; "No Spit, No Consumption." He discussed his subject for two hours. He said, "Everybody who has consumption today caught it because somebody spit yesterday. If the sick people, who have consumption would cease spitting, tomorrow nobody would catch consumption." When he was through, one of his hearers asked him if Adam had consumption. The doctor wanted to know which Adam the gentleman referred to. "Adam the husband of Eve; the first man," replied the questioner. "Why do you ask that question?" queried the good doctor. The gentleman replied, "If everybody today has consumption because somebody spit yesterday, then it was obvious that Adam must have had consumption, for he was the first man to spit." Dr. McCormack thought the logic sound. The man then told him it was very unusual, as there was nobody to spit before Adam. My reason for referring to the above incident is to show that man has an individual cause within himself; he need not depend upon somebody else to get sick; that man is an independent unit when it comes to life and death; health and disease; sickness and its cure. It is quite true that germs may be transmitted from one individual to another but it is a matter of common knowledge that all people to whom germs are transmitted do not contract the disease. The whole matter depends upon whether or not the bodily resistance is normal. If it is, disease does not develop. The chiropractor has no criticism for intelligent efforts to prevent promiscuous transmission of germs from one to another but knows that fundamentally the cause of so-called communicable disease lies in the lack of resistance in the human body.

A.M.E. PASTOR AT GARY RESIGNS GOES BACK HOME

BISHOP TO NAME SUCCESSOR—ABLE MINISTER POPULAR WITH CONGREGATION—PERSONAL REASONS AND CLIMATE LISTED AS CAUSES.

GARY, Ind., Dec. 12.—The Rev. W. A. McClendon, after spending two years and three months as spiritual head of the A. M. E. Church here, handed in his resignation Sunday of last week and left next day for Atlanta, Ga., his native home.

It is generally understood that friction between the Rev. McClendon and Bishop Archibald J. Carey head of this district is responsible for the resignation.

Unpopular Move.

At the end of his first year in Gary, the Rev. McClendon was sent to the State Capital to the yearly conference. The members of the church, with whom this move was unpopular asked Bishop Carey to return him here. The demand was decided to by the Bishop and back came the Rev. McClendon. The latter was again transferred in the conference held last summer which brought forth another objection from the congregation.

The body registered its objection by refusing to accept the minister sent to Gary to replace McClendon who Bishop Carey reluctantly permitted to return.

Hold Rally

In order to raise the First A. M. E. church assessment of $250 for the Education fund, a rally was held. It was scheduled to end two weeks ago but due to the fact that contributions were small, the time was extended to last Sunday. The amount raised was reported as being only $50 because of prevailing unemployment conditions.

Following the closing of the rally Sunday, Rev. McClendon handed in his resignation and stated that he had sent a copy to Bishop Carey.

Well Liked.

It is said that the Rev. McClendon was considered by officials of the church as blessed with successful qualities and a very high-type of minister. Recognized by those who knew him best as conscientious leader in the community and loved because of the great aid which he gave the unemployed by providing the latter with two meals a day.

PROHIBITION HAS BEEN BOON TO THE NEGRO, SOME LEADERS SAY

QUESTIONS PROJECTED INTO LIQUOR LAW PROBLEM BY WHITE WRITER CHALLENGED BY DR. ARTHUR R. HOWARD, SECRETARY FOR COLORED OF THE BOARD OF TEMPERANCE.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Dec. 12.—(ANP)—Questions which were projected in an article on "Prohibition and the Negro," written by Archibald Rutledge, white, and published in the Outlook and Independent Magazine for May 23, 1930 are challenged this week in a report made by Dr. Arthur R. Howard, secretary for colored work of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church (North).

Secretary Howard's report is based on data secured from a three year survey of the Negro's reaction to prohibition and an exhaustive study of 500,000 temperance pledges made by Negro youths through college presidents, church leaders, and prominent political and civic workers.

He discusses the "Negro's Response to the Prohibition Law" from the standpoint of the economic and social effects of the law and the Negro's obedience to it.

The allegation is expressed that students of situations frequently treat the Negro in some special manner in relating him to economic and social phenomena, but that deductions drawn from such studies must be misleading because the Negro is forced to meet a law in the same manner as all others.

Dr. Howard's studies brought replies on the economic effect of prohibition from Kelly Miller of Howard University; Dr. W. T. B. Williams of Tuskegee Institute, and President J. J. Starks of Benedict College. Dr. Miller stated that the Negro has saved money from the cost of drink; Dr. Williams, that there are more home comforts than in the pre-Volstead era, and President Starks, that prohibition has tended to make home more ideal in every respect.

These views are reported to have found support from such persons as President J. B. Randolph of Claflin College; President Mary McLeod Bethune of Bethune-Cookman College; Bishop W. A. Fountain, and the late President Geo. P. Phenix of Hampton Institute.

Testimony regarding the effect of the law came from such leaders as Jesse O. Thomas, southern field director for the National Urban League; Dr. J. W. E. Bowen, Dr. Chas. A. Tindly, and President D. H. Sims of Allen University.

"Disregarding uniform criticism," reports Dr. Howard, "we may come to the truth that drinking is now done principally by the youth of the wealthy class who can defy the law with safety and by bootleggers with a few patrons. The Negro cannot defy the law and escape the penalty. The number which makes the attempt is negligible."

Small Boy Is Musical Wonder

ERROLL GRANDY ASTONISHES FAMILY AND FRIENDS WITH EXHIBITIONS.

SALEM, Va., Dec. 12.—A musical prodigy in the person of a small boy, Erroll Grandy, 11-year-old son of Rev. Thomas L. Grandy, pastor of the Bethel African Methodist Church here, has astonished his family and friends with exhibitions of his talent at the piano.

After a few preliminary tunes at his small piano, Erroll will launch into the dreamy strains of "The Lost Chord," following with a rendition of the "Minuet" and other numbers as they are suggested, concluding with a composition of his own, which he calls "Irish Potatoes."

The boy's mother said he first played the piano when two years old, after he had heard a hymn in church during baptismal service.

Erroll's first piano recital was given in Norfolk when he was five. He never has had music lessons due to defective eyesight.
